

TEDDY BEARS' PICNIC

(John Bratton, 1867-1947)

If you go down in the woods today you're sure of a big surprise
If you go down in the woods today you'd better go in disguise
For every bear that ever there was will gather there for certain
Because today's the day the Teddy Bears have their picnic

THE SORCERER'S APPRENTICE

(Paul Dukas, 1865-1935)

This is the legend about a Sorcerer who had an apprentice. He was a bright young lad, very anxious to learn about the business. As a matter of fact he was a little bit too bright because he started to practise some of his boss' best magic tricks before learning how to control them. One day, for instance, when he had been told by his master to carry water to fill a cauldron, he had the brilliant idea of bringing a broomstick to life to carry the water for him. Well this worked very well - at first. Unfortunately, however, having forgotten the magic formula that would make the broomstick stop carrying the water, he found he'd started something that he couldn't finish.

PETER AND THE WOLF

(Sergei Prokofiev, 1891-1953)

A children's story spoken by a narrator and accompanied by the orchestra. Each character in the story has a particular instrument and a musical theme:

Bird: flute

Cat: clarinet

Duck: oboe

Grandfather: bassoon

Wolf: French horns

Peter: string instruments (violin, viola, cello, and bass)

Hunters: woodwind theme, gunshots on timpani and bass drum
